03/22/2021, Los Angeles, CA - Antonio Canobbio began his remarkable animation career in France before moving to Los Angeles. The latter was due to securing a prominent position with the Cartoon Network. Canobbio later joined Titmouse, where he is the Concept Artist and Creative Director for all Titmouse projects, such as Metalocalypse, Black Dynamite, Motorcity, Turbo: F.A.S.T., Moonbeam City, and the studio's first feature film titled Nerdland. Further, Antonio currently directs the Amazon series Niko and the Sword of Light. It is due to Antonio's immeasurable talent and vision that he currently serves as an ECA advisor. He generously accolades his time by contributing to both Emile Cohl Ateliers' curriculum development and partnership program.
